CHRISTMAS SCENES FEATURED AT 'POINSETTIA WISHES'

 Triangeln station in Malmö, Sweden	 The Post Office	The Post Office Looking very much like a futuristic portal into another world, the post office features the geometric shape of the Triangeln station in Malmö, Sweden. Here is where all Christmas gifts are sent to and picked up for delivery!
 Hallgrímskirkja Church in Reykjavík, Iceland	 The Kitchen	The Kitchen The largest church in Iceland, Hallgrímskirkja, has been transformed into a kitchen filled with wares and appliances all fired up for the preparation of a grand Christmas feast!
 Santa Claus Village in Rovaniemi, Finland	 The Repair Shop	The Repair Shop Is Santa’s sleigh looking a little worse for wear? Don’t fret! The repair shop, with its nuts, bolts, ropes and pulleys, is where things are made new again! You don’t need to cross the Arctic Circle to set your sights on Santa Claus Village in Rovaniemi, Finland.

 Vennesla Library in Vest-Agder, Norway	 The Reindeer Station	The Reindeer Station The expressive timber ribs which define the interior space of the Vennesla Library in Norway bring together the various elements of the reindeer station – the reindeer food trough, flight schedule display, and main control station. Are the reindeers ready for their trips across the world?
 Tromsdalen Church in Tromsø, Norway	 The Centrepiece	The Centrepiece No Christmas display is complete without Christmas trees! Alongside these conifers you will see triangular arches, inspired by the aluminium-coated concrete panels on either side of the roof of Tromsdalen Church, also known as Ishavskatedralen (The Arctic Cathedral), in Tromsø, Norway.
 Grundtvig's Church in Copenhagen, Denmark	 The Chimney	The Chimney Incorporating the striking façade of Grundtvig's Church in Copenhagen, Denmark, reminiscent of the exterior of a church organ, the chimney is accompanied by pretty poinsettia trees, shaped to look like bonsai.
		The Choir Stage Be enchanted by the angelic voices of the nisse choir trolling the ancient Yuletide carol! Join in and sing along to your favourite Christmas tunes!

INTERESTING POINSETTIA VARIETIES

	Golden Glo This bright, single-toned poinsettia has bracts in a unique gold colour, and complements the traditional red poinsettias for a festive red-and-gold combination. The yellow hue intensifies as the bract matures.
	Winter Rose Early Red The Winter Rose Early Red poinsettia is an interesting variety as its ruffled bracts are a contrast to the flat-bracted, big red poinsettia which breeders usually try to achieve.
	Premium Marble The Premium Marble poinsettia has dark green leaves and stands out among traditional poinsettias with its large, saturated creamy white bracts and a light pink blaze down the centre.
	Primero Red Glitter The Primero Red Glitter has elongated, deep red bracts with yellow speckles. This variety is popular due to its hardiness, as it is long-lasting in warm and low light conditions.
	Christmas Mouse While the usual poinsettia has pointed edges, the delightful Christmas Mouse poinsettia has soft-looking rounded leaves and bracts which resemble a mouse's ears.
