FRINGE ACTIVITIES AT GARDENS BY THE BAY'S CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL

Educational plant workshop

Plants on the Move!

Inspired by the Pacific setting of Disney's Lilo & Stitch, this 35-minute session conducted by Gardens by the Bay's Hawaii-born researcher Dr Janelle Jung combines storytelling with a real plant showcase to educate children on plants that people carried with them as they settled on the islands of Southeast Asia to the middle of the Pacific Ocean. Through interactive activities, children will learn why plants like coconut, taro, candlenut, breadfruit, and calabash gourd were valued not just as food, but for their many practical uses, especially during long voyages. Sessions are free and slots are on a first come, first served basis.

Date: Saturday, 31 May and Saturday, 14 June

Time: 10.15am to 10.50am

Location: Cannonball Room

Details:

- Workshop is free.
- This programme is recommended for ages 7 to 12 years old.
- Limited to only 30 participants per session. Queue for the session will open 15 minutes before each session on a first come, first served basis.
- Terms and conditions apply.

About the instructor

Dr Janelle Jung is a Senior Researcher with the Research and Horticulture Department at Gardens by the Bay.

She has worked at the Gardens since 2017, conducting flower and production research trials, contributing articles, and designing workshops and tours to showcase the wonders of plants to visitors, volunteers, and staff.

Dr Jung was born and raised in Honolulu, Hawaii. She completed her Ph.D. in Plant Breeding and Genetics at Cornell University in 2016.
